Report by Jordan

9th January 2008

Dear Brundall School Website Viewers,

Today we had our Christmas party, it was postponed from 18th December. We played lots of games between 2 classes, 5O (Mrs Odell's class) and 5B (Miss Brown's class) I'm Jordan in 5O by the way.)

We also had mocktails (non-alcoholic juices), they were yummy.

The first game we played was 'sock wars', the object of the game is to: have no shoes on and try to get the sock off of your opponent's foot.

Then we played musical bumps. After that, we played 'fancy dress chocolate.' We had one dice and if you rolled a 6 then you had to dress up and try to cut off some chocolate.

Then we had our 'mocktails,' (no they're not alcoholic) they are made from juices and fizzy water. I had cranberry juice, apple and soda water. Afterwards, we played head it/catch it and Mr Stuart-Sheppard (head teacher) and some children from the other class played some music.

Finally we played pass the parcel, got some goody bags and went home.

ZZZZZZZZZZzzzzzzzzzzzzzzzzzzzzzzzzzzz